

Residence applications accepted for processing

1. Aim

This report summarises the number of New Zealand residence applications accepted for processing per month and financial year.

2. Definitions

2.1. Accepted for processing

The full application processing cycle involves three main stages:

2.1.1. Tendered

The Department of Labour (Immigration New Zealand) receives the application, as lodged by the applicant or representative of applicant.

2.1.2. Accepted (for processing)

If the Department deems that the application fulfils basic lodgement requirements then the Department may accept the application for processing. Not all tendered applications are accepted (for processing).

2.1.3. Decided

When processing for the application reaches a sufficient point the Department makes a final decision (approve or decline) on the application, based on information collected during processing. Not all accepted applications reach the decided stage (e.g. applications withdrawn, fee refunded).

2.2. Financial year

The financial year observed in this report begins on 1 July and ends on 30 June. For example, the 2005/06 financial year begins 1 July 2005 and ends 30 June 2006.
