

New Zealand Refugee Resettlement Strategy:

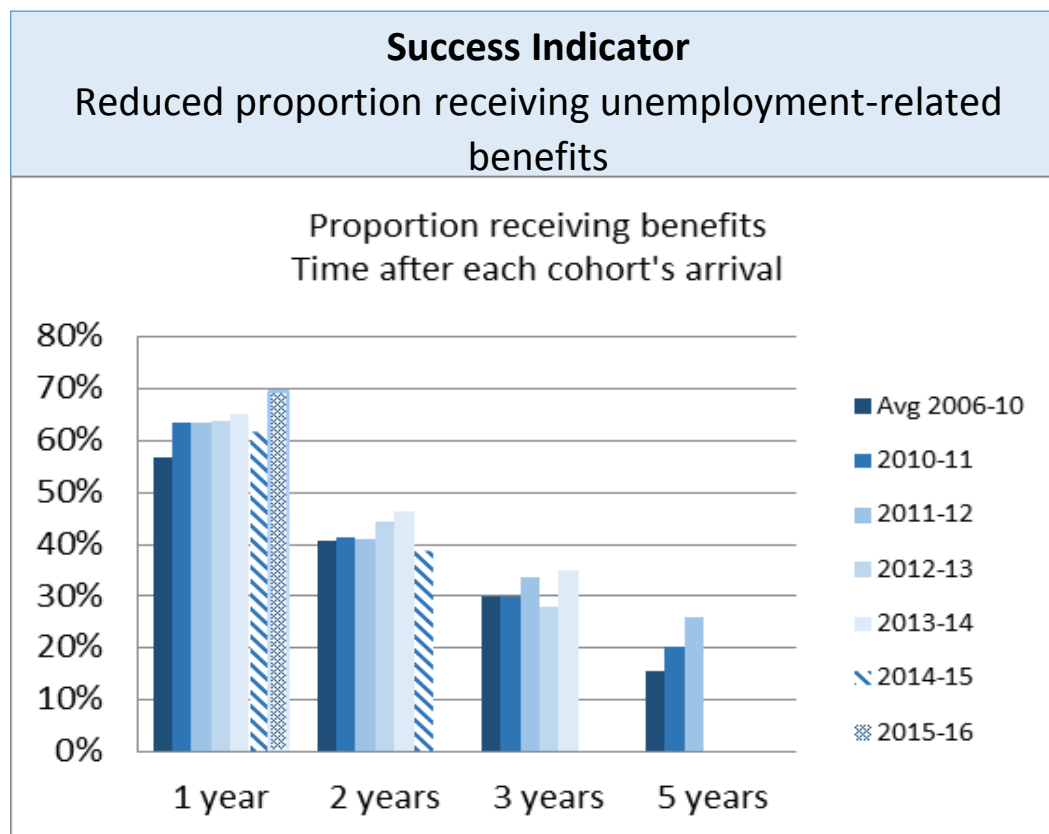

Update on 2017 outcome measures and indicators

Andrew Lockhart, National Manager Refugee and Protection, INZ

Self-sufficiency

Self-sufficiency

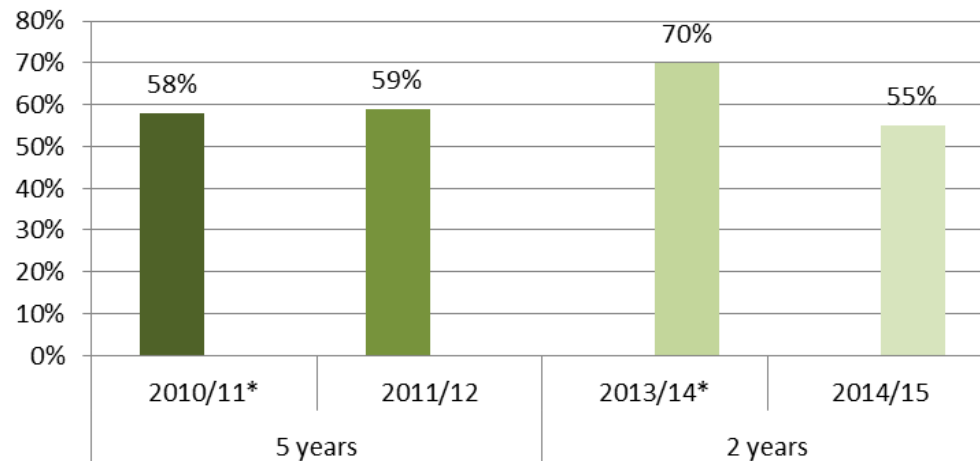

Housing

Success Indicator

Reduction in the proportion of refugees receiving housing assistance after two years and five years in New Zealand

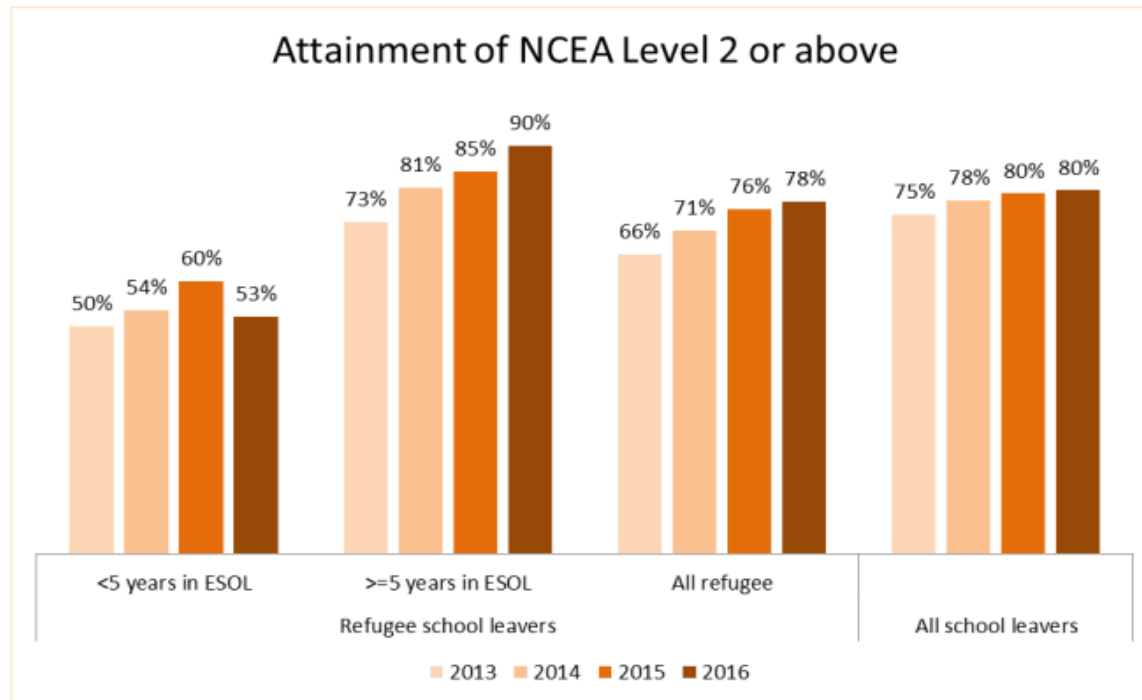

Proportion of cohort in social housing
(as at 30 June 2017)

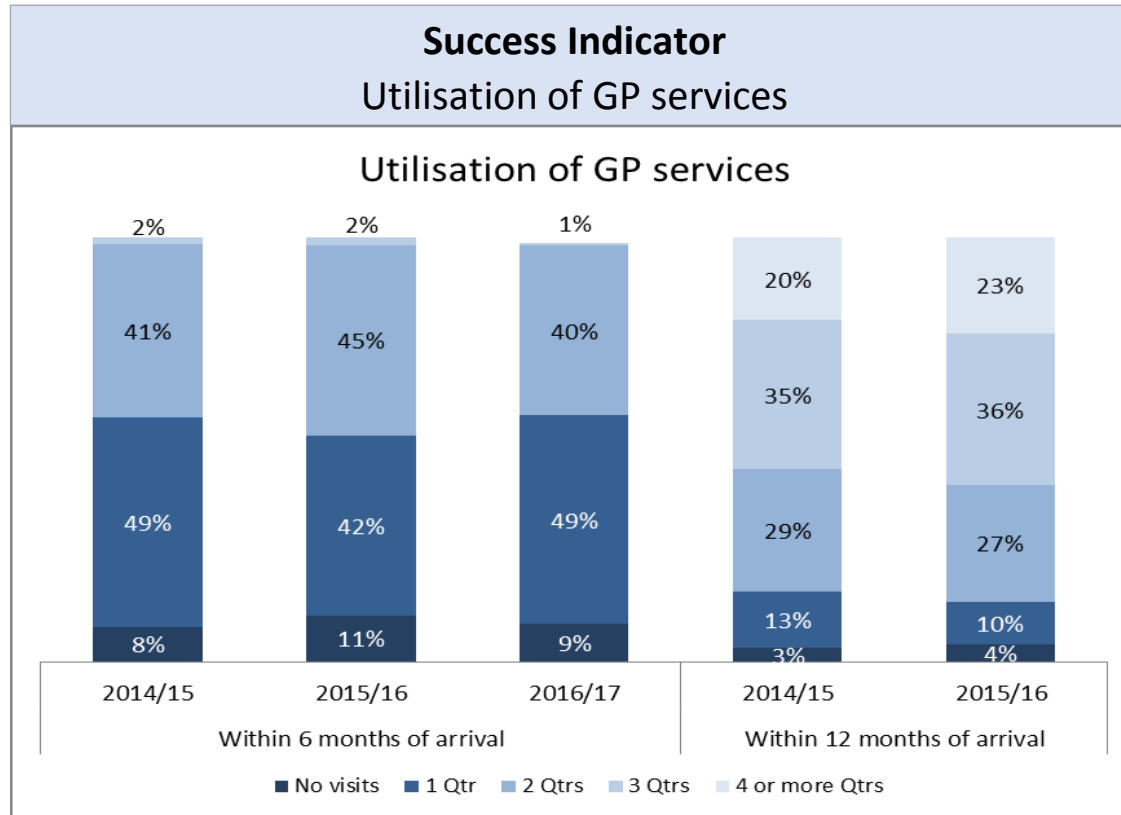

Education

Success Indicator

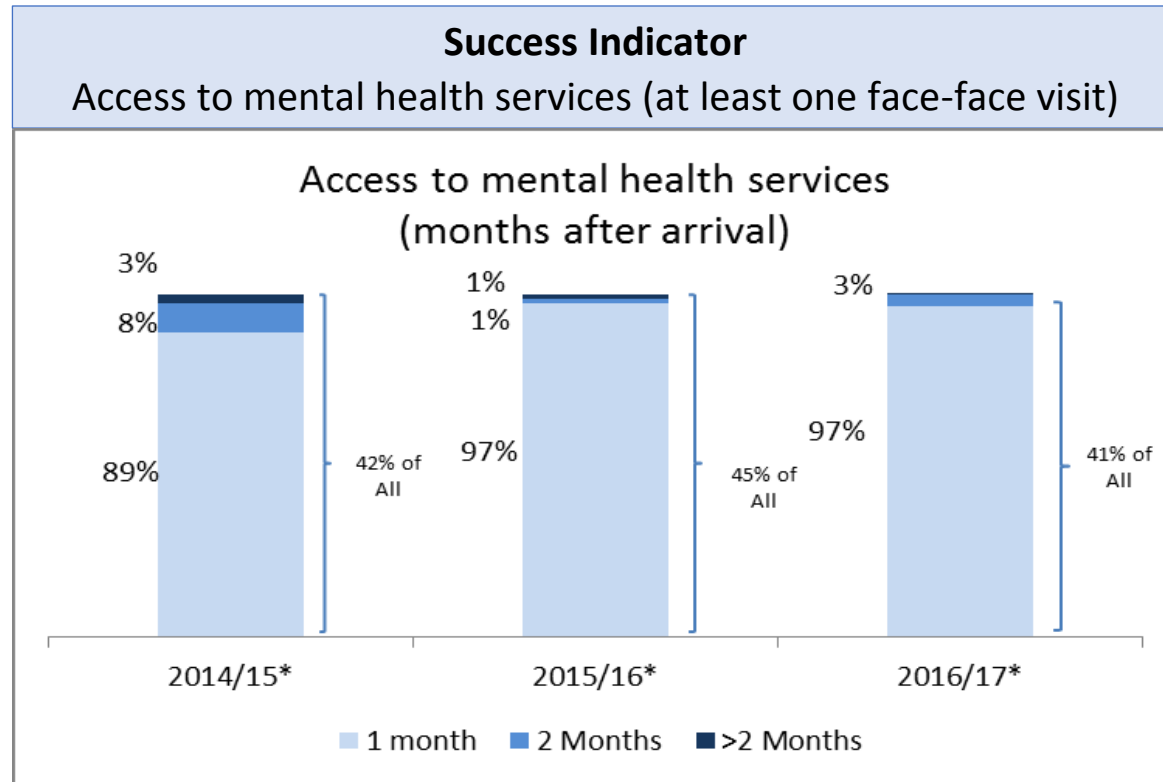

Proportion of refugee school leavers attaining NCEA Level 2 after 5 years or more in the New Zealand education system

Health and Wellbeing

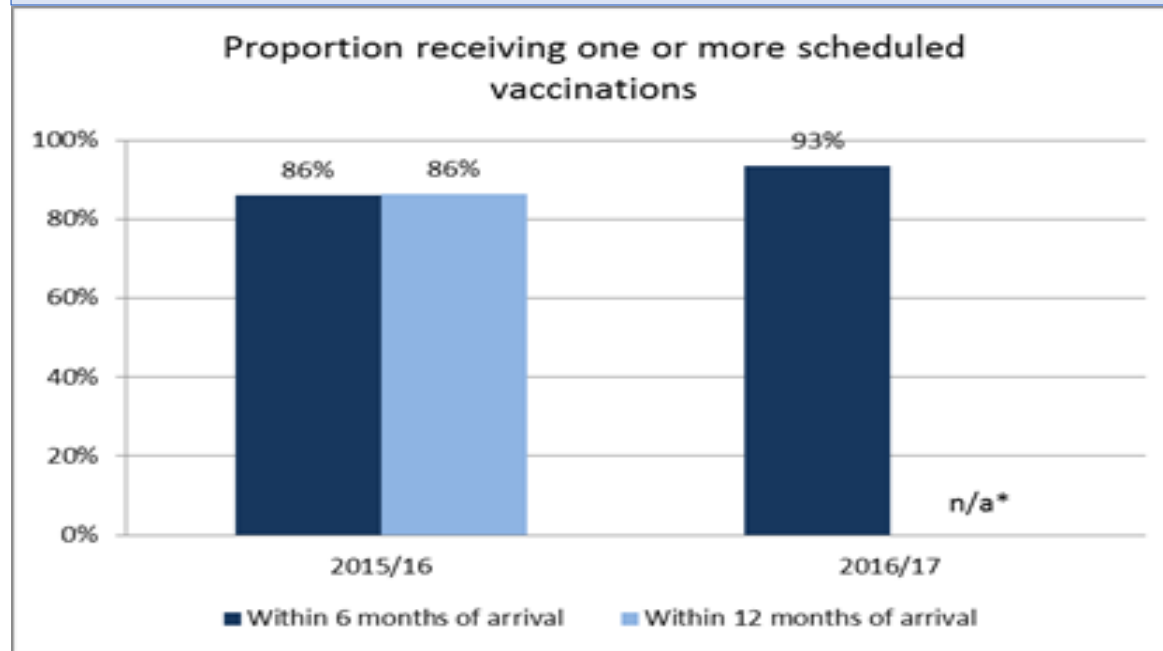

Health and Wellbeing

Health and Wellbeing

Success Indicator

Proportion of quota refugee children receiving age-appropriate immunisations (within 6 and 12 months of arrival)

Priorities to 2020

- Connecting refugees to Employment
- Language Assistance Services
- Strengthening the delivery and coordination of health and disability services
- Review of the mix of services provided to support initial refugee settlement and evaluation of settlement outcomes

For more information on the Strategy

<https://www.immigration.govt.nz/about-us/what-we-do/our-strategies-and-projects/refugee-resettlement-strategy>

NEW ZEALAND VISAS EMPLOY MIGRANTS ASSIST MIGRANTS & STUDENTS About us Login

 Policy & law What we do News centre Research & statistics

What we do

Our strategies & projects

New Zealand Migrant Settlement and Integration Strategy

New Zealand Refugee Resettlement Strategy

- Rebuilding the Mangere Refugee Resettlement Centre
- National Refugee Resettlement Forum

Supporting refugees and asylum seekers

The Language Assistance Services Project

International cooperation

Partnering with industry

New Zealand Refugee Resettlement Strategy

Immigration New Zealand works with refugees to assess their health and employment options. The aim is to help refugees find work, and improve their health and education outcomes.

The New Zealand Refugee Resettlement Strategy is a whole-of-government approach to delivering improved refugee resettlement outcomes. Refugees resettled into New Zealand under the Refugee Quota Programme more quickly achieve self-sufficiency, social integration and independence.

The Refugee Strategy is a holistic framework which brings together refugees' goals for settling in New Zealand with the New Zealand Government's vision for refugee resettlement, combining support from government agencies, settlement partners and refugees themselves.

 The Refugee Resettlement Strategy PDF 1005KB

 Priorities for implementation through to 2020 PDF 927KB

→ Refugee Quota Programme