- This form must be completed in English.
- Please write clearly, using CAPITAL LETTERS.

Confidentiality

The fact that a person is a claimant, a refugee or a protected person and information they provide about their claim is confidential under section 151 of the Immigration Act 2009.

There are exceptions to confidentiality, and disclosure of refugee information is permitted in certain circumstances, for example, to determine the claim or maintain the law.

Primary consideration is given to the safety of the claimant and any other person. If a claimant has any particular concerns about confidentiality, they are encouraged to communicate those concerns to the Refugee Status Unit (RSU) or the refugee and protection officer (RPO) as soon as possible, and at the interview.

Recognition as a refugee in New Zealand

New Zealand is a signatory to the United Nations 1951 Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees ("Refugee Convention"), and the United Nations 1967 Protocol to that Convention.

A refugee is defined by the Refugee Convention, as amended by the 1967 Protocol, as a person who

- "owing to well-founded fear of being persecuted for reasons of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion, is outside the country of his nationality and is unable or, owing to such fear, is unwilling to avail himself of the protection of that country; or who, not having a nationality and being outside the country of his former habitual residence, is unable or, owing to such fear, is unwilling to return to it".

To be recognised as a refugee in New Zealand you need to demonstrate that the Refugee Convention definition of a refugee applies to you.

If you believe that this definition applies to you, you may claim refugee status.

Recognition as a protected person in New Zealand

New Zealand is a signatory to the Convention Against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment ("CAT") and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights ("ICCPR").

To be recognised as a protected person in New Zealand you must demonstrate substantial grounds for believing you would be in danger of being subjected to:

- torture; or
- arbitrary deprivation of life; or
- cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment,

if deported from New Zealand.

Legal assistance and immigration advice

You have the right to contact a lawyer or licensed immigration adviser to help you to claim refugee and protection status or to complete a Confirmation of Claim to Refugee and Protection Status in New Zealand (INZ 1071) (this form) and to represent you in your claim to refugee and protection status. You may qualify for legal aid to help pay for the services of a lawyer.

A list of legal aid approved providers is available at www2.justice.govt.nz/find-a-legal-aid-lawyer/

Immigration Advisers Licensing Act 2007

Under the Immigration Advisers Licensing Act 2007 it is an offence to provide immigration advice without being licensed or exempt. If your immigration adviser is not licensed when they should be, Immigration New Zealand will accept your claim but not correspond with your adviser.

For more information and to view the register of licensed advisers, see the Immigration Advisers Authority website www.iaa.govt.nz or email info@iaa.govt.nz.
