Section B Applicant's fingerprints

If you are in Fiji, your fingerprints must be taken at your nearest police station.

If you are not in Fiji, your fingerprints must be taken by an acceptable agency in the country you are in – such as a local police station.

If you are in New Zealand, you will need to go to a New Zealand PostShop that provides fingerprinting services. The locations of New Zealand PostShops that provide this service are available on the New Zealand Post website www.nzpost.co.nz/fingerprinting. If the New Zealand PostShop in your region is not able to provide fingerprinting services, you can approach your local Police station to have your fingerprints taken. You will need to take proof of your identity when you have these taken – for example, a valid passport.

Your fingerprints should then be forwarded to:

Officer in Charge
Criminal Records Office
PO Box 239
Police Headquarters
Suva
